

Corporate Rentals Booming

Durango and Farmington are home to a number of rapidly growing corporations and non-profit employers. Many of the jobs are filled by highly skilled professionals and technicians from outside the area. The corporations need to find acceptable (first rate) housing for these employees on a temporary basis while the employees are on assignment or while they set down roots in Durango.

Most good managers have developed relationships with these employers and also have an inventory of desirable units which are kept full with the corporate demand for short term housing.

A number of corporations choose local hotels to house their new employees. This strategy is almost always more expensive than a furnished rental. Additionally, most hotels raise their rates in the summer and some even evict their long term tenants in favor of the more profitable nightly guests. Durango hotels are very crowded in the summer time. Before you do a long term hotel rental, you will want to look into the furnished rental homes in Durango and Farmington featured on this site.

If you are a renter, corporation, or rental home owner, you owe it to yourself to contact one of our Durango Farmington professional rental managers to save you time. Money and hassles in navigating the Durango and Farmington rental market.
